MAN'S MISERY,

Caused by His Own Passions and the Force of Destiny.

An Allegheny Policeman Murdered while Arresting His Man.

A Policeman Murdered.

PRITTSBURG, Nov. 9.—Officer James Wiggins, of the Allegheny police force, was shot and instantly killed, on Ohio street, in that city to-night, at 10 o'clock. John Fouchs and George Hocke were arrested by policemen Wiggins and Hough for fighting. The officers were taking the men to the station house, when Fouchs pulled a revolver and shot Wiggins, the ball taking effect below the left eye. Fouchs then attempted to escape, when Hough, who had charge of Hocke, allowed the latter to go and started in pursuit of Fouchs, who turned upon him and fired two shots without effect. Hough fired at Fouchs, who stopped running and permitted himself to be taken. Wiggins was about twenty-eight years of age, and leaves a wife and two children. It is not known what caused the row between Fouchs and Hocke.

Terrible California Casualty.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 9.—A Bodie dispatch says: Fire broke out in the Good & Shaw hoisting works at 1 p. m., and destroyed the building. The shaft took fire, and the timbers burned down twenty or thirty feet. As soon as the flames were subdued a temporary hoist was improvised, and Fireman James Hood descended the shaft. There were four men at work on a 660 foot level, McCabe, Jackson, Smith and another, name not ascertained. All were found dead at the bottom. Engineer Parker has not been seen since the fire, and it is feared he may have been burned in the building. A man named Dagan was killed in the Tioga mine this morning by a rock falling on him.

Fatal Fight in Memphis.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Nov. 9.—In a difficulty originating about the possession of some lumber, Charles Goobles, a well known forist, was shot this afternoon, by Joseph Gregory, a young attorney. The two quarreled early in the morning, and by agreement met outside the city limits and for a time engaged in a regular fistfight. Goobles, who is much more the most powerful of the two, was getting the best of the fight, when Gregory drew a pistol and shot him in the groin. Gregory has not been arrested, but his father, who is a prominent attorney of this city, says he will surrender himself in the morning.

Death Warrants Issued.

HARRISBURG, Nov. 9.—Warrants were issued this morning by Governor Hoyt for the execution, on Thursday, Jan. 6, 1881, of Daniel F. Sullivan, who murdered Josie Irwin, in Philadelphia; Patrick Hayes, who murdered his wife in Philadelphia, and Catherine Miller, who murdered Rev. Miller, the husband of the latter, in Lycoming county.

Whiskey Did It.

NEW CASTLE, Pa., Nov. 9.—The body of John Dorman was found in the Shenango river this afternoon. He was last seen Saturday evening under the influence of liquor and probably fell off the railroad bridge while attempting to cross it. He was a laborer at the Elms furnace, was about 45 years of age and leaves a wife and two children.

No Machine Shops for Bluffton.

Special Dispatch to The Sentinel. BLUFFTON, Nov. 10.—The election here yesterday for the purpose of voting the assessment of $30,000 for the erection of machine shops, round houses, etc., connected with the Toledo, Delphos & Burlington narrow gauge railroad was lost by a majority of fifty votes against the appropriation. It was a sad blow for Bluffton.

THE RAILROADS.

The Lake Shore forged tickets have been on the market for three or four months.

The general offices of the Toledo, Delphos & Burlington railroad have been removed to Toledo. J. W. McElvain, auditor, has left with his family for that city. The other officials went Saturday evening.

Detectives now think that the ticket forger who gave his name as Chas. Miller, when arrested in Chicago Saturday, is none other than J. T. Tinker, a notorious forger, who has already served two terms in the penitentiary.

The stockholders of the Grand Trunk Railway of Canada, at their recent semi-annual meeting in London, Eng., voted a gratuity of $12,500 to Joseph Hickson, the road's general manager, for extending the line to Chicago.

The grading of the Detroit and Butler road is completed from Detroit to Adrian. Everything is in readiness for the iron between those points except the completion of a bridge over the Detroit river. Some twenty-four miles of rail have been laid down. The question of crossing the Lake Shore track at Adrian has not been settled.

Building Enterprise.

A large gang of men and horses are at work, clearing the lot at the northeast corner of Main and Barr streets, preparatory to the erection of an extensive brick building on that site.

The owner is Mr. P. A. Randall, and the contractors are: for brickwork, Messrs. Moellering & Paul, and for carpenterwork, Mr. John McMillen.

The building will be fifty feet front, by ninety feet deep, and four stories in height, and the contract provides that the work must be completed, and the building ready for occupation by Jan. 1, 1881.

On that date, or as soon afterwards as possible, the premises will be entered and occupied by Mr. L. B. Johns, and used as a carriage factory.

Several thousands of brick have been already deposited on the ground, and the work of laying the foundation will be commenced to-morrow, weather permitting.

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 10.

BY E. A. K. HACKETT.

THE rumor of General Sherman's resignation is an old story—revamped. Sheremans rarely die, and never resign willingly.

THERE are some faint symptoms of a boom in behalf of President Hayes for United States senatorship of Ohio, but it is still under control.

FRYE, of Maine, and Conger, of Michigan, would stand good chances of being speaker of the next house, if there was no such thing as an Ohio man.

THE latest aspirants to the Indiana senatorship are President Burgess, of Butler university, Gen. A. D. Sireight, Congressman Tom Browne, Hon. John Coburn and J. M. Shackelford.

THE Sixth congressional district will also have some candidates before the legislature this winter. Gen. Tom Browne and Hon. B. F. Claypool will be candidates for United States senator, Mrs. R. A. Moffett, principal of the high-school, at Rushville, will be a candidate for state librarian.

LET the average young man bestir himself and remember this: It is a remarkable fact that the men who have been sent to the White House have all been men of the humblest origin, who have become distinguished by their own exertions. The rail-splitters, the tanner, the tailor, the farmer, and the tow-path boy.

IT is said that Secretary Sherman, in his forthcoming annual report, will recommend the permanent retirement of the one and two dollar notes, and the coinage of an equal amount of silver dollars to take their place. Should this change take place the inconvenience caused thereby will be untold. It is hoped Mr. Sherman may get out of office before he does any such thing.

THE Wall Street Daily News tells how the money flowed into the hands of General Arthur, who was managing things in New York, by saying that "early in the campaign Mr. Cyrus Field sent to General Arthur a check for $500 as his contribution to the expenses. Very soon after the defeat of the republicans in Maine occurred, and thereupon Mr. Field sent his check for $5,000, with a message that General Arthur knew his address when he wanted more."

A CERTAIN young man has been threatening to write a "piece" for the FORT WAYNE SENTINEL concerning the editor of this paper. We are acting for a chance to "let out" on the young man, and we hope he will carry out his threats.—Antwerp, O., Banner.

The ache which permeates the bosom of the editor of the Banner is shared by the editor of THE SENTINEL, and while we do not wish the "letting out" chance, we will state for the benefit of this "certain young man" particularly, and the great body of would-be scribblers in general, that THE SENTINEL is not the organ of any clique or clan, and his "piece" will never appear in this paper.

CURRENT OPINION.

Hancock's Bearing.

Toledo Bee.

General Hancock's bearing during the campaign, and the courteous manliness with which he takes his defeat, has been such as to command the respect even of his political opponents, and is in striking contrast to the alleged remarks of General Grant in an interview referring to his fellow soldier, then the democratic candidate for president.

Colonel Forney's Opinion. The telegraph has just flashed the fate of General Hancock, a man whose name stands for the highest and noblest valor in the history of the 4th of July, 1863, and whose heart's throbbing with gratitude over the opportune arrival which saved Philadelphia from fire and spoil, now throbs with delirious and ingrate joy over his defeat for president of the United States by a man denounced by his own party as venal and corrupt.

A Coincidence.

New Haven Register.

The very day that the American people voted away their liberties, the English government indicted Parnell for working in the cause of liberty.

Look Out for Him.

Indianapolis Sentinel.

Senator Blaine has been ruthlessly brogued by Conkling and Grant, and the "plumed knight" is not likely to forget the insult. For the slaughter of Grant at Chicago there is no forgiveness, and Blaine is not the man to plead for it. Look out for Blaine in the senate.

A Curious Painting.

New York Sun.

As Hayes and Garfield sipped their tea and looked across the table at one another Thursday evening, they must have had singular reflections. This meeting of the first American president who was not elected and the first American president elected after having been condemned by his own party for bribe taking and false swearing would make a curious historical painting.

Poetic Justice.

Chicago Times.

Arthur will doubtless think it poetic justice that he is called upon to preside over a body which advised and consented to his removal from the New York custom house.

We Hope So.

Indianapolis Journal.

Indiana has had her last October election. Mark that.

ABOUT PEOPLE.

GENERAL and Mrs. Garfield will celebrate the anniversary of their marriage to-morrow.

IT is said that Mr. Parnell's American brother, who is farming in New Jersey, will abandon agriculture and America and run for parliament.

HON. Fayette McMullen, who was killed by the cars at Wytheville, Virginia, was a member both of the United States and Confederate congresses.

BAYARD TAYLOR's parents, Joseph and Rebecca, recently celebrated the sixty-second anniversary of their wedding at their Kennett Square, Pa., home.

MR. CYRUS W. FIELD has ordered a Christmas dinner as Shanghai and expects to make New Year calls at Hong Kong. He will sail from San Francisco on the 18th instant.

COLONEL E. L. DRAPE died on Monday, at New Bethlehem, Pennsylvania. Colonel Drake drilled the first oil well at Titusville, and thus became the founder of the immense petroleum business.

AT THE meeting of the Fort Wayne common council last night a theatrical license ordinance that has been hanging fire for some time was disposed of by its being passed. Theatrical institutions will now be obliged to pay an annual license of $100, instead of $2 a night for each performance.

STATE NEWS.

Captain John Horn, of New Albany, lately appointed prison director, has entered upon his duties.

While awaiting the decision of the supreme court, Mrs. Brown, the Indianapolis murderess, is losing her reason.

Asa James, living a few miles north of Knightstown, while away from home a few days, had twenty large, fat hogs stolen.

A Chicago sister of charity, who went to Sheffield, Indiana, to nurse a small-pox patient, returned only to enter the hospital with the same disease.

A son of M. V. Snyder, at South Bend, aged 14, stole $32 from one of his father's boarders, Saturday night and spent the money. He was arrested and will be sent to the reform school.

Wm. Franklin, a wealthy farmer living three miles south of Spencer, died on Saturday, aged 60 years, making the fifth member of the family that has been buried from the same house within the past two months, all with the same disease—blood poison.

The Indianapolis Journal says that Solon Robinson, for many years agricultural editor of the New York Tribune, and who recently died in Florida, was many years hence a citizen of Indiana. He resided at Crown Point, and was, we believe, clerk of Lake county. He was an excellent book farmer, and exactly the man to tell Greeley "What I know about farming." His great strike for immortality was "Hot Corn," of which, twenty-seven years ago, fifty thousand copies were sold.

NEW ALBANY.

Serious Cutting Affray in a Church.

Things must be lively in New Albany. A dispatch to the Indianapolis Journal says that at the Fourth street Colored Baptist church Sunday night there was a row of large dimensions. Henry Bush had been forced to marry Laura Bush to cover an accident. He went to the Baptist church Sunday night and took his usual seat. Soon after his wife entered and took a seat beside him. Then Henry suddenly "ris up," and deposited himself in another seat. His wife followed and placed her closed fist against the side of his face and "give him a shove," whereupon Henry proceeded to pound her. But Laura was too many for her husband, and drawing a pocket-knife slashed into his arm, inflicting a severe cut. Henry's mother came to the rescue, receiving a terrific slash on the neck, that hardly missed the jugular. The elders of the church now rushed in and separated the combatants and ejected the wife from the house, when she was locked up by the police. Being arraigned before the mayor Monday morning Laura was discharged, but she was immediately rearrested on two writs issued by a magistrate, charging her with assault with intent to kill. Of course this little diversion broke up the meeting, the colored brothers and sisters being glad to escape into the outer darkness.

HAYES.

His Future as Told by Himself.

In the course of an interview President Hayes is reported to have taken part in the following on the subject of the election:

"I suppose that you are gratified with the result of the recent election?" said his visitor.

"Yes, I am very much pleased," was the response.

"Was it unexpected?"

"What do you consider the cause of the result of the election?"

"The feeling so general throughout the country in opposition to any change."

The visitor at this point referred to the position taken by some of the southern papers, of cheerful acquiescence in the result of the election, with the expressed hope that the new administration would be as just to the south as the present administration. To this Mr. Hayes made

NO COMMENT.

"The policy of the coming administration will be essentially the same as that of the present, will it not?" queried the visitor.

"Yes, I think so, in all essential points. General Garfield has been in accord with me during my administration."

"If you will pardon the question, what are your plans for the future?"

"I am going to return to my home and give my attention to my private business, which has been neglected for the last five years."

"WHAT IMPRESSIONS will you carry away of your life here in Washington?"

"In the main, very pleasant. The first two years were hard,—as hard, perhaps, as any year of Lincoln's administration. I have said this frequently before, and I still think so. The two last years have been as easy and pleasant as any president has enjoyed. In my case," Mr. Hayes said with a smile, "the sunshine has followed the storm and clouds."

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 10.

FORT WAYNE.

Hi Henry's splendid band paraded some of the principal streets to-day.

A hint to a local scribbler: There can be no such thing as "stale news." News is always fresh.

No arrest was made last night, and consequently there was no session of the mayor's court this morning.

At the meeting of the city council last night, the contract for the English city printing and advertising was awarded to THE SENTINEL.

The jug breaking and social at the third Presbyterian church, last night, proved a pleasant affair. The attendance was large, and the proceedings exceedingly enjoyable.

The most assiduous parental attention will frequently fail to prevent coughs, cold, croup, etc. Dr. Bull's cough syrup is a most valuable remedy to have convenient when needed. Price 25c.

Two cases were entered yesterday on the circuit court docket: George Jacoby and Sebastian Wiegand vs. Frank B. Vogel, action on promissory note, $70; P. A. Randall, plaintiff's attorney. Peter Blessing vs. Warren B. Felt, action on note, $400; P. A. Randall, attorney. Both these cases have been set for the 20th inst.

A newly-married couple from the agricultural districts were stopping at the Mayer house, yesterday. At dinner-time, a waiter handed them a bill of fare. They both looked at it in blank amazement for a few minutes, when the male half of the bridal party said: "We don't know anything about this thing; bring us some dinner."

"Bill Williams" is the name of the character assumed by Mr. John Woodward, in "California through Death Valley,"—not "Bell Williams," as incorrectly stated by a local paper. Bill Williams is the name of a man.

A local scribbler politely refers to a well-known musical critic of this city, who occasionally furnishes THE SENTINEL with musical notes, as "the idiot of THE SENTINEL," and then spells Belshazzar with three z's.

The last case entered on the superior court docket is: Mary Goheen and Charles M. Goheen vs. John R. Ross, Elisha Hire, Elias Hire and James M. Harrison, action on promissory note, $600; C. A. Hays, attorney.

THE SENTINEL editorial and compositorial staffs are indebted to Dr. C. T. Melzheimer, of Bluffton, for the receipt of a barrel of fine, Northern Spy apples. The hungry editors and printers have each tasted of the fruit, and pronounced it good. If the present rate at which the apples are disappearing is kept up, the "barrel" will hold out about two days.

By reference to our columns, it will be noticed that Mr. Sidney O. Lumbard, has assumed the management of the Home insurance company of New York, instead of Fisher & Tons heretofore the representatives of that company. The position of the Home and Mr. Lumbard in this city as company and agent, is such as to guarantee success, and the new deal has our good wishes.

Toledo Telegram, of yesterday: "Fort Wayne rejoiced last night over the choice of General Garfield for president, at least that portion of the burg which voted for him did. The democratic party was sezened—in a horn—or a good many of them, and the night was bright with bonfires and torches."

Truly hath a local scribbler remarked that one must go away from home to learn the news, or words to that effect; for while, here at our very doors, bonfires have been blazing, torches flickering, and horns tooting, the enterprising reporters of Fort Wayne have been kept in entire ignorance of the fact, until this morning, when the Toledo mail arrived.

A new and welcome addition is about to be made to the journalistic fraternity of Fort Wayne. Mr. Sims Major, of Laporte, Ind., has been offered, and has accepted, an editorial position on the Gazette. THE SENTINEL hereby extends a cordial welcome to the new comer, whose reputation as a newspaper man and a gentleman, warrant us in expecting that he will soon be able to effect a much-needed improvement in the Gazette. There is room for a respectable morning paper in Fort Wayne, and it is sincerely hoped that Mr. Major will succeed in gaining for the Gazette a measure of respect that has been for some time past daily wanting.

Mr. Hamilton called attention to a bill—$35 against the city, for three all advertisements in the Gazette, making in all not more than half a column. Mr. Hamilton thought the advertisements were unnecessary, and that they need not have been published outside of the official paper of the city.

Mr. Hettler expressed similar views, only in stronger language. He wanted to see the bills, and he wanted the printing committee to see they should not be paid.

It was found that the Gazette account had not been approved by the committee, so the matter dropped.

PETITIONS.

A petition was presented by Messrs. Miller & Morris, asking leave to erect a balcony in front of the Avenue house.

Mr. Hettler moved that the petition be referred to the committee on streets and the city attorney with power to act. Carried.

Two petitions with respect to sewers, were received. One was referred to the committee on sewers, and the other to a special committee appointed by the mayor, and consisting of Messrs. Lillie, Vordermark and Wolf.

REPORTS OF COMMITTEES.

The finance committee submitted its report, which was received and placed on file.

Reports from the committees on streets and waterworks were read and concurred in.

A report from the special committee appointed in connection with the licensing of places of amusement—Messrs. Mohr and Muhler—was submitted, stating that the committee had prepared an ordinance on the subject. Report received and placed on file.

REPORTS OF CITY OFFICERS.

Mayor Zollinger submitted his report, which, as usual, was referred to the committee on finance.

A communication from the city attorney was referred to the committee on streets.

A report from the city civil engineer, with respect to a desired extension of time, asked for by certain contractors for public work, created quite a discussion. Mr. Hamilton stated that contractors had been granted extensions of time so frequently that they did not seem to consider themselves bound in the least by provisions with relation to the time in which jobs should be completed, contained in their contracts.

A report from the chief engineer of the fire department, stating that the waterworks could not be run until the fire alarm telegraph system should be extended to the works, was referred to the fire committee.

The monthly reports of the clerk and treasurer were referred to the committee on finance without reading.

CONTRACTS AND BONDS.

The contract between E. A. K. Hackett and the city of Fort Wayne was read. Mr. Hackett, undertook to do all the city job printing and advertising, for one year, in consideration of the sum of $1,195, to be paid in monthly installments. The bond, signed by E. A. K. Hackett and Charles McCulloch, was also read.

It was moved and seconded that the contract and bond be approved. Carried—13 yeas and no nays.

The contract and bond between the Indiana State Zeitung, and the city of Fort Wayne, for publishing advertisements in German, including the translation, from November 5, 1880, to November 5, 1881, for $250; were read and approved. Twelve yeas, no nays.

The contract and bond between the Ohio Valley street lighting company and the city of Fort Wayne, were read and approved.

A communication from the waterworks trustees was submitted, recommending the payment of $300 to Mr. Brackenridge, city civil engineer, as compensation for his extra services in connection with the building of the water-works. Referred to the committee on water-works.

AN ORDINANCE relating to the licensing of theatrical entertainments was presented. The ordinance provided that the cost of a license for a theatrical hall be $100 per year, payable in weekly installments of $3 until the whole shall be paid. The ordinance was read three times and passed.

Several other items of business were pushed through, but nothing of public importance.

The council adjourned before 10 o'clock.

AMUSEMENTS.

THE MINSTRELS TO-NIGHT.

The name of Hi Henry has been before the Fort Wayne public for some time past, and every day since his grand minstrel entertainment has been announced in THE SENTINEL, scores of people have made up their minds to "take in" the show. Judging by the number of tickets sold and seats secured, up to the hour of going to press, the opera house will be crowded in every part to-night. It is safe to predict that no one will be disappointed with the performance. Hi Henry's company is composed of stars of the first magnitude. Read what the Washington Daily Reporter said of the entertainment given at the Capital Sept. 10, 1880:

Hi Henry's entertainment at the Town Hall last night was one of the finest we have had for a long time. The members of his troupe are artists of the first-class in their respective parts. The performances elicited rounds of applause, but were so absorbing that the immense audience was kept in good order throughout.

"CALIFORNIA THROUGH DEATH VALLEY."

The notice of the above entertainment, to be given at the Grand opera house on Friday and Saturday of this week, has been rather short, but it will no doubt prove sufficiently long to draw large crowds, as it has never failed to do in other cities. The following, with reference to the performance, is from the pen of Rev. George R. Davis, rector of Trinity parish, Nevada City, Cal.:

"I can truly say that I have never seen better acting than was presented in your drama of frontier life and crossing the plains, the moral tone of which was most excellent. I saw nothing which the most respectable could object to. You deserve success, and I hope you will win it."

MRS. JOSHUA WHITCOMB.

Monday evening, the 15th inst., has been fixed as the date of the appearance in this city, at the Opera House, of the Mrs. John Whitcomb Company. Particulars of the entertainment will appear in future issues of THE SENTINEL.

The following is an extract from the Rochester Union: In spite of the ghastly weather of last evening, a large audience gathered at the opera house to witness the second presentation of "Mrs. Joshua Whitcomb." It is no surprise that the public, even the ladies, should dare the storm to see this play, for few pieces are so calculated to stir the public after it is once witnessed. It creates enthusiasm, the audience applauding in that spontaneous way which is more correctly denominated as vociferous and unequivocal, only to applaud again, and go away to laugh at every recollection of the scenes presented. This tribute is paid for three or four reasons. First, there is just enough of "plum-pudding"—just the proper length in the play to satisfy the appetite for amusement during the evening. Second, there are no vulgar and offensive localisms; and, third, the climax of each act, and the final one, is just what the onlooker expects.

"THE WIDOW GLASS."

This musical comedy, or comic opera, will soon be presented to the citizens of Fort Wayne, by a strong company, under the direction of Prof. J. A. Butterfield, of Chicago. "The Widow Glass, or the Romance of a Summer," will be produced here for the first time, and in selecting this city as the scene of the initial performance of the opera, Professor Butterfield does Fort Wayne a high honor.

STAGE WHISPERS.

Miss Clara Morris is perhaps the only leading actress of the stage now who is not carried away on the tide of rich and wonderful costumes.

Sarah Bernhardt has engaged a tutor, and is spending two hours each day in the study of the English language.

Miss Nellie Calhoun, grandniece of John C. Calhoun, has made a successful debut as Juniet in San Francisco.

Clay M. Green, the dramatist who wrote "Miss" has just completed a drama of the romantic order, entitled "Chipsa." It is in four acts and a prologue, and is intended for Maggie Mitchell.

Clara Louise Kellogg will soon enter upon a four months' engagement at the Grand Opera house in St. Petersburg, Russia.

"Old White" is playing "Joshua Whitcomb" through Indiana and Illinois. That man has got the nerve to tackle "Richelieu."

The hero of "Anna Dickinson's" new play is a millionaire and a journalist. Anna evidently doesn't know much about the profession.

THE OTHER SIDE.

Mr. W. Matthews Makes a Statement with Regard to the Warren Divorce Case.

Mr. W. Matthews, attorney at law, called at THE SENTINEL office last evening, and gave a reporter a version of the Warren divorce matter, as an off-set to the story published in yesterday's paper. Warren's side of the case was given to the public without note or comment, and, as Mr. Matthews is entitled to the same consideration as Warren, his side is here given in the same way.

Mr. Matthews states that, at the time mentioned by Warren, Mr. Tinkham, the former partner in the law business, who is now in Maine, introduced Warren to him (Matthews) and stated that Warren wished to obtain a divorce from his wife.

Matthews undertook to conduct the case, but contracted with Warren that the latter should pay him $25, before the case should be proceeded with.

It is not true that Matthews agreed to find two witnesses who would swear that Warren had lived two years in the state and six months in the county, but Matthews distinctly told Warren that he would have to find such witnesses himself, and that he (Matthews) would not proceed with the case until they should be found.

Warren neither had these witnesses nor any evidence to show that his wife had been guilty of adultery.

On or about October 20, Warren paid Matthews some money, and said he would give him $10 more, if he (M.) would find such witnesses as were needed in the case. Matthews was indignant, and refused to have anything more to do with the affair.

"The fact is," said Mr. Matthews to the reporter, "Warren hasn't lived in the state more than eighteen months, as I have since found out. The statement he made to you, and which you published in THE SENTINEL, is at variance with his sworn testimony in Justice Pratt's court. There he stated that he had represented to me, that he had lived in the county six months and in the state two years."

The row which resulted in the provoke and assault and battery cases was occasioned by Warren's refusal to withdraw the civil suit mentioned in yesterday's paper. Matthews offered to settle by giving Warren $5, claiming that his services in the divorce case were worth the balance of the money that Matthews had received from his client.

While discussing the subject, high words were used, and Warren struck Matthews in the breast. The latter states that he did not threaten to smash Warren's head in, as asserted by that gentleman.

Mr. Matthews further states that he provided Warren with food and lodging accommodation for a long time, and attended to his wants while he was sick at the hospital. The attorney also says that he never gave Warren to understand that the divorce case was filed in court.

Mr. Matthews, in company with Mr. C. D. Lunceford, called at the office this morning, after the above had been written, and made the following additional statement:

"Warren is a fugitive from justice from the east. He was afraid to have the divorce case filed, fearing that the prosecuting attorney of Wabash would see a record of the suit in the papers. Why he was afraid of this, I don't know, but it looked suspicious."

In Justice Tancey's court, this morning, the charge of provoke, preferred against Mr. Lunceford, was investigated and dismissed.
